TESOL Italy Val d'Adige cordially invites you to the eight-hour workshop:

“Statistics for Language Research”

led by Donald Pardew
co-organized and hosted by the Competence Centre for Language Studies
Free University of Bozen-Bolzano

The purpose of the workshop is to review and practice the application of statistics to language research, as well as the use of Microsoft Excel to conduct statistical analysis. The workshop will build upon concepts and methods of statistics covered during the first workshop in April 2015 (e.g. principles of sampling, measures of central tendency and variability, and univariate and bivariate tests) in order to introduce more advanced issues of research design and statistical analysis (e.g. internal and external validity). Case studies will be used to demonstrate and practice concepts and methods under the guidance of a trained statistician. There is a maximum of 30 spaces available for this event. All participants are kindly asked to pre-register by March 25.

Friday April 1, 2016 – 14:30-18:30
Saturday April 2, 2016 – 9:00-13:00

Building E, Room E 531
